THAT POOLROOM CASE.

AN IMPORTANT DUTY FOR JUDGE BARRETT.

RACETRACK LEGISLATION AT ALBANY-NO HOPE FOR THE SAXTON BILL-CLOSE FINISHES-LORD LONSDALE'S ARREST.

On Judge Barrett's sentence of Fisher, the convicted om-keeper, hang all the law and the prophets. The Ives Pool law, Section 7, reads;

Any person who shall engage in poolselling at any time or place except as hereinbefore stated (that is, on racetracks) shall be guilty of a felony, and upon conviction shall be punished by imprisonment in the State prison for a period not less than one nor more than five years.

The hoped-for repeal of this law has not come in time to save Fisher and his heathern, provided the time to save Fisher and his brethren, provided the letter of it as well as the spirit is carried out by the police authorities and the judiciary. Law is supposed to be common sense. No man with an ounce of brains has ever doubted that the so-called commiss business is an defusion and an evasion. It may be asserted without fear of contradiction that no poolroom in this city has ever played in good faith the part of common carrier. Not a dollar wagered in them has ever gone beyond the cashbox behind the opaque glass partition that screens the manager and his clerks from the observation of their patrons.

Galen R. Hitt, chairman of the Assembly Judiciary Committee, reported Assemblyman Ward's repeal bill on Friday, but there is not one chance in 100 for it to pass. There remain but seven and a half or eight full sessions days before the adjournment of the Legislature, and nothing is likely to be done in that time with this measure, which, after all, is only one of the numerous "strikes" by means of which the lawmakers piece out their small salaries.

Nor is there any hope for the Saxton bill, which was intended to enforce the Ives Pool law. Concerning this measure The Tribune's Albany correspondent says:

It now has been nearly a month since Senator Saxton's bill prohibiting gambling on races outside of the legally authorized tracks was placed in the hands of the Assembly Judiciary Committee, but the Assembly has heard nothing from it. The members of this committee are Galen R. Judiciary Committee, but the Assembly has heard notaing from it. The members of this committee are Galen R. Hitt, of Albany; George H. Bush, of Ulster County; General McMahon, of New-York; William Sulzer, of New-York; John Cooney, of Brooklyn; Michael N. Kane, of Orange County, and William M. Cameron, of Warren County, the Democratic members, and Milo M. Acker, of Steuben; General Husted, of Westchester; I. Sam Johnson, of Wyoming, and D. Morgan Hidrech, of New-York. The city members of this committee especially ought to see to it that this bill is reported to the Assembly without further delay. It is in the interest of good and honest racing as against the cheap gambling dens of the city. Each day that this committee delays dens of the city. Each day that this committee delays in making a report on this bill tends to add an appearance of truth to the reports in circulation that the gamblers are holding the bill down in committee through the help of Tammany Hall and a large corruption fund. Only a few days of the present session remain, and unless the committee reports the bill soon it will be impossible to get

One of the causes of delay with this bill is Mr. Hitt's continued absence from the place which he presumably was elected to fill. Then there is the poolroom lobby. It has done good work for the dens in compassing the burial of the Saxton bill. The Shields Committee on Codes has in its grip two bills which are of interest to One is the Roche bill, which amends the Ives law by providing for an increase in the tax of 5 per cent now imposed on the gate receipts of the racing lations within the State. It has been said that at least one-third of the people who gain admission to our racetracks are "deadheads." The bookmaking army alone numbers 320 active workers, who have free badges, and whose families and friends receive complimentary tickets to the extent of 1,000 a day. Then there are the members and their friends, and the army of owners, trainers, jockeys, waiters, bartenders, etc. To say that 2,000 free admissions are given each day is not wide of the mark. Mr. Roche thinks that in estimating the gate receipts each complimentary ticket should be counted as the equivalent of a paid admission and be taxed accordingly. The other bill provides simply that the tax of 5 per cent, as at present levied, shall be increased to 25 per cent, on the theory that the jockey clubs are making too much money.

Philip Dwyer said a day or two ago that he was sorry the tax had not been made 25 per cent at the beginning, as in that case there would have been fewer "strikes." The annual cost of these excrescences of legislation is said to be $25,000, which the racing associations are required to pay.

The poolroom lobby is under the able superintendence of Moses Dinkelspiel, of the XIIth District, who has long been known as Philip Daly's man. The keepers of these dens of iniquity, about sixty in all, have formed a strong combination which has col-lected and now has in the treasury some $150,000. For twelve months the members have contributed monthly to a sinking fund $200 each, and the money ed to appeal the case of the convicted Fisher and to have the Ives law declared unconstitutional.

As regards Monmouth the situation is still uncertain. George W. Brown, ex-Mayor of Long Branch and ex-Sheriff of Monmouth County, was asked by a Tribune reporter a few days ago if he thought the authorities would permit racing on Mr. Withers's track this year. Why, certainly," he said. "The county authorities have never interfered with racing at Monmouth. "They worried the club considerably last year didn't they ?" "No. The racing men worried one another. They were simply fighting among themselves."

The lease has not been signed, but there is little doubt that the Monmouth programme will be run off at Jerome Park.

"The price that Guttenburg paid Elizabeth and Linden for their dates was not $1,500 a day," said

James E. Kelly yesterday.
"What was it, $1,200?" he was asked. "It was nearer $2,000 than $1,200," he replied.

As a matter of fact, the offer made to the two clubs was $1,250 a day or half of the receipts at Guttenburg and Messrs. Dwyer and Appleby accepted the latter. Mr. Dwyer's horses are being raced at Guttenburg to help swell the receipts.

For the Brooklyn Handicap Joe Cotton is laying 6 to 1 against Tenny, 10 to 1 against Prince Royal, 15 to 1 Burlington, 15 to 1 Potomac and 15 to 1 Eon. For the Suburban Tenny and Firenzi are equal favorites at 8 to 1.

The Coney Island Jockey Club has expended $100,000 on its new quarterstretch structures. An experienced judge of racing suggested that the judges' nd be placed at least fifty feet from the rail, instead of directly over it, maintaining with excellent argument that with such an arrangement fewer wrong decisions would be made in placing horses in close finishes. The writer is of the same opinion. The judges are too close to the track. We all know to our cost how often a horse winning on the outer rail, under the judges' noses, is entirely overlooked. There are other reasons, quite as strong, why they should be situated further back. Edward Smith, who had half e century's experience as a member of the staff of Bell's Life," speaking of close finishes, says: Jockeys make mistakes sometimes and so do judges.

Constable, who was a most superior, trustworthy fellow, and who had a great deal of riding for a youngster, as he was, told me that he was quite sure that a horse which ran close under the judge's chair and came with a rush, or was quite away at the lower side of the course, sometimes escaped the judge's eye when two or three horses were racing together in the centre; and, after he had made up his mind as to who must be among the first three, sud-denly something tears by him which he sees is a horse, and he is in two minds where to place him. Constable told me that when riding he often got a second when he told me that when the state of stake. The judge made a great mistake and overlooked a horse of mine entirely, which rushed just under his nose almost. The fact was palpable that the horse was first by nearly two lengths, and the judge, whom I knew for years afterward and respected greatly, told me that it was a mistake and a bad one. Directly the horses were past the post my jockey, as a matter of course, was waiting to ride back first, when the rumor spread like wilding to ride back first, when the rumor spread like wilding the back first, when the rumor spread like wilding the back first, when the rumor spread like wilding the back first, when the rumor spread like wilding to ride back first, when the rumor spread like wilding to the back first, when the rumor spread like wilding the back first, when the rumor spread like wilding the back first, when the rumor spread like wilding the back first, when the rumor spread like wilding the back first, when the rumor spread like wilding to the held there early in July. The athletes will sail for home, in all likelihood, by the French line rumor has been under the charge of the Rev. Robert M. Stration, Mr. Stration, M summens against Lord Lonsdale for furious driving at summons against Lord Lonsdale for introductions are summons against Lord Lonsdale, who did not appear. The chief witness for the prosecution was Sergeant Martin, of the West Sussex Police, who deposed that between one and two in the afternoon of the 11th linst, he was on duty in the London Road at Held, when the defendant came driving toward witness from the direction of Reigate at a furious rate. Witness stood in the road and made an attempt to stop defendant, but he drove past. A little distance off defendant pulled up, got out of the one-horse trap, and into a two-horse vehicle that was waiting. Defendant then again drove past witness at a furious rate. There were a good many people about on the road. It was known that the drive was to take place, but, although some people on the road appeared to take up positions from which to view the race, the majority seemed to be out merely in the ordinary way. In cross-examination, he stated that the road was quite straight at that point. He had not heard of anyone having been rith over. He admitted that the defendant had the horse under proper control. Police Constable Welch gave similar evidences. Mr. Wood submitted that there was no case for his client to answer.

The magistrates dismissed the case, but at the same time they deprecated the use of the public highway as a racecourse. Ifield on the 11th inst., the occasion of his twenty

DAMP GROUNDS KEEP THE GORHAMS AND

MONROES APART. A splendidly contested game of baseball was played at Recreation Park, L. I., yesterday between the Senators and the Acmes. The battle resulted in a draw, each side scoring two runs. It was too cold to con-tinue-the game after the ninth inning, and as neither side had been able to score a run for the last seven innings, nobody grumbled.

Armitage pitched in good form for the Acmes, espe-cially after the first inning. The general fielding work of the Acmes was excellent. Rellly did nearly as well, and it was not his fault that the Acmes got a run. Mackey did the best fielding and batting. The Senators' runs were made on a base on balls, a stolen base, a sacrifice, a hit by Bowes and wild throws by Lestrange and Keeler. The Acmes made their two runs in the second inning on errors by Daily, Moorhead and Barry and a sacrifice by Skelly. The score

The latter were not in it from the time the first best was pitched until the last man was put out in the ninth innings. Stivetts's grand pitching received excellent support, as is shown by the errorless record of the Brown, while Crane's work in the box was poor, the home team hitting him at will. Robinson for the visitors distinguished himself at second by catching a difficult fly in deep right field and putting out two men who were attempting to steal. Eagan, Fuller and Comiskey made a brilliant double play to close the game. The game which was forfeited to the Browns last Wednesday will be played off to-morrow, President Kramer having declared forfeit illegal. The score:

Three thousand three hundred and thirty-four immigrants landed at the Barge Office yesterday, and made it a busy day for those employed there.

The steamship Andes, that arrived here yesterday from Trinidad, reported that on April 9 she passed vessel bottom upward, apparently about 200 feet long. The Andes was then 350 miles southwest of Bermuda

The pulpit of the Madison Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church was filled yesterday morning by the Rev. Dr. Morris D'C. Crawford. The Rev. Dr. Ensign McChesney, pastor of the church, who has been ill for the last few days, was reported yesterday as being much improved, and his complete recovery is looked for in the next few days.

Professor F. G. Tisdall, of the City College, will lecture on "Marathon Retold" before the Archaeological Institute of America, in Hamilton Hall, Columbia College, this evening at 8:30 o'clock.

Dr. Anderson, of Adelphi Academy, Brooklyn, will give a talk on "Physical Training" to the Primary Principals' Association to-day at 4 p. m. at the Normal College, Park-ave. and Sixty-eighth-st. "Around the World in a Charlot of Song" is the theme of the illustrated lectures to be given this even ing and to-morrow evening by Philip Phillips, the "Singing Pilgrim," in St. James's Methodist Episcopal Church, at Madison-ave. and One-hundred-and-twentysixth-st. A powerful lime-light will be used.

A BARBER COMMITS SUICIDE.

HE CLOSED THE STORE, SAT DOWN IN A CHAIR AND FIRED.

Mental aberration, brought on by business worries and indulgence in strong drink, caused Frank Meyer, a barber, to shoot and kill himself in his store at a few minutes after midnight on Saturday. Meyer, who was about thirty-five years old and lived with his wife and two little children at No. 418 West Forty-seventh-st., had carried on business for about four years at No. 1,586 Broadway. Apparently he did a good trade and was supposed to be in good circumstances, but it is said that he was oppressed by private financial difficulties. All through Saturday he drank heavily. Shortly before 12 o'clock he dismissed his workmen for the night. Then for a few minutes he talked brightly and cheer fully with one of his customers, after which he closed the store. At about a quarter past 12 the people in the adjoining houses heard the sound of a pistol-shot, but apparently took no particular notice of it. At 1:30 n. m. Police Officer Beasley, of the Twenty-secon himself in the chair and blown out his brains.

GREETING THOSE SAVED FROM DEATH.

PATHETIC SCENES AS THE SURVIVORS OF THE UTOPIA ARE LANDED.

Early yesterday morning there was a crowd of three housand people, nearly all Italians, congregated about he Earge Office to see who of the steerage passengers of the illifated Utopia had come over in the Anglia Among the crowd were many anxious faces that scanned each newcomer. Now and again some one in the crowd recognized a friend or relative that he had feared was among the lost. Great was the re joicing, a fearful chatter of tongues and much wavin of bandkerchiefs. By far the largest number went away sorrowful, knowing for a certainty that the one they wanted had been drowned at Gibraltar.

There were affecting scenes, too, among those who landed. One little fellow, Guiseppi Ecnomi, had been made an orphan by the disaster and looked tearfully and worderingly around for some friend. He was taken charge of by the Italian Society. Another case was an elderly man, Thomasso Crissl, who led by the hand a boy of about ten years. It was all he had left hand a boy of about ten years. It was all he had left, for he lost on that fatal March night his wife, four children and a brother. When their friends greeted them the man could only answer with tears. Two only of those handed from the Angila were sent back, both of them ex-convicts. One bad shot his brother, the other had committed some other fellony.

As each of those saved from the Utopia came to the desk of the registering clerk, Captain Warr, of the Angila, handed him $15, his share of the subscription that had been raised for the survivors in Europe.
